

Potato Crop Endangered By Smugglers

Export Industry of $2,000,000
Threatened, Officials Suggest

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A silent war is being waged jointly by the Immigration Department and federal plant inspectors against smugglers seeking to bring into Canada potato varieties from Europe which would endanger the nation's entire potato crop, it was learned here today.

Disclosure that smuggling was taking place was made to the Times by the department of agriculture which is keeping a vigilant watch on all imported potatoes into this country.

Importation of potatoes into Canada from Europe is prohibited chiefly because of a serious potato disease, Golden Nematode.

Strict regulations have resulted in attempts being made by "certain people" to smuggle into Canada species of potatoes not grown in this country, agricultural officials said. One potato, "purple flesh," appeared to be particularly in demand because of its suitability for salads.

B.C.'s export of both table and seed potatoes amounted to close to $1,000,000 last year, according to officials of the department of agriculture.

This figure does not include export to other provinces.

Value of potato exports from all Canada this year is expected to be well over the $2,000,000 mark.

B.C. exported 39,875 bushels of table stock potatoes, valued at $49,904, in 1951, and 31,838 bushels of seed potatoes, valued at $46,757.

Could Ruin Entire Industry

Dr. Norman Putman, field crop commissioner, said spread of the disease in Canada would ruin entirely Canada's potato export trade to the United States and South America.

The effects of the disease on the potato crop would be similar to that of foot-and-mouth disease on cattle, he said.

Lucky Driver Escapes in Bridge Plunge

VANCOUVER, May 16 (CP)—A driver escaped with only a minor head cut early today when his car plunged over the Second Narrows bridge to the rocks 50 feet below.

In a second accident Thursday two small children were dragged 14 feet under a backing car and one of them is in serious condition in hospital.

Mike Kostyniuk, 36, climbed out of his battered auto beneath the south girders of Second Narrows bridge and told assistant police officers he would not bother going to hospital.

He said he swerved to avoid an approaching auto and the next thing he knew, he was plunging down the embankment. Even his car got off lightly. Damage was estimated at only $200.

A five-year-old boy, John Haggstrom, suffered internal injuries and fractured right leg when he was dragged beneath a car driven by Roy Stevens, 62.

John's playmate, Curtis Hughes, 5, dragged the same distance, escaped with head cuts. Police were told the tots were playing in a water hole in a vacant lot adjoining Steven's home. He did not see them and backed over the hole and onto the centre of the lane without being alerted by their screams.

U.S. Steel Union Head Will Consider New Bid

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (AP)—Philip Murray, president of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) said today he is willing to renew labor peace talks with the steel industry, but stressed he still stands pat on his demands.

Murray told reporters at the union's convention that it would be up to the industry to initiate new negotiations, and that he is always ready to accept a bid.

Murray emphasized in his remarks to the convention that he is unwilling to retreat from the eventual 26-cent-an-hour "package" plus union shop, recommendations of the government's Wage Stabilization Board. The industry has balked at the W.S.B. proposals.

"This organization is not going to compromise any more on these issues," Murray told the cheering delegates. "Our demands already have been compromised by the W.S.B. We didn't get all we wanted by any means. And we're in no mood to compromise any more with anybody."

A solution to the deadlocked steel dispute thus seemed as hopeless as ever.

Meanwhile, the industry was still under government seizure, with legality of the government operation of the seized industry in the lap of the Supreme Court.

Wage rates and working conditions remain frozen by the high court's "status quo" ruling.

The steelworkers' convention, attended by 2,500 delegates from Canada and the U.S., prepared to quit in its fourth day. It has passed resolutions favoring repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law and as supporting civil rights legislation.

The real question was how long will the steelworkers remain at work without a pay increase. They now are technically government employees under Truman's seizure order, and as such are barred from strike action.

The distinct impression gained around the convention is that the steelworkers don't intend to let things drift indefinitely. If the Supreme Court rules the seizure legal, they expect Truman to raise their wages by approximately the W.S.B.'s terms. If the court rules the seizure unconstitutional, they expect to strike to force the W.S.B. terms from mill owners.

'Hello, Dear! . . . It's Been a Long Time . . .'

Probably the happiest man in Canada Thursday was Brig. John M. Rockingham when he met his wife at Vancouver airport on his return to Canada after 13-month command of 25th

Canadian Brigade in Korea. Brig. Rockingham has been appointed director-general of military training of the Canadian Army. After leave he will take over that post in Ottawa.

Civic Reception Planned Here For Brigadier John Rockingham

By ROY THORSEN

A civic reception is in store for Brigadier John M. "Rocky" Rockingham when he arrives in Victoria on leave, probably at the end of this month.

"We will either have a dinner or a cocktail party in his honor," said Mayor Claude Harrison.

"He is a very distinguished soldier, rating high in Canada's armed forces. Victoria is proud of Rocky—we all are. He's done a grand job in Korea. He's a good leader who inspires men," the mayor said.

Questioned by telephone today, Brig. Rockingham said that he was not sure "of my commitment until I've been to Ottawa."

"However, I'll certainly be over to see you folks in Victoria during my leave," the brigadier said. He has 30 days.

THIS WEEK, HALF CENTURY AGO, RECALLED IN MAGAZINE SERIES

First of a series of articles "This Week in Victoria History" appears in tomorrow's magazine section of the Victoria Daily Times. As often as events justify they will recall something of importance that happened in Victoria within the last 50 or 60 years.

Tomorrow the article, by Archie Wills, recalls it was 33 years ago that the first airline flight from Victoria to Vancouver was made.

During young aviators back from World War I were eager not only to fly again but to commercialize their knowledge.

Jack Clemence was at the controls when the Pathfinder made its history-making flight. Sandham Graves, now editor of the Daily Colonist, was navigator and radio man.

German Courts Approve Rearming, Pact Signing

Chancellor Triumphs; Big Three Ministers
To Settle Last Details of Peace Treaty

BONN, Germany, May 16 (CP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer triumphed over his Socialist opposition in the courts today and won approval to go ahead next week with the signing of treaties to rearm West Germany and ally it with the west.

Earlier today Allied and German negotiators, after an 18-hour session, announced they would complete on Monday all but a few clauses of the proposed peace contract and that the big three foreign ministers would come here late next week to settle those points and sign the treaty with Adenauer.

Adenauer's legal victory came in the federal constitutional court at Karlsruhe, which rejected a Socialist petition that the chancellor be forbidden to sign the peace contract and its companion European-army treaty to raise 400,000 German troops for western defence.

The court ruled Adenauer's signing of the pact would be legal, since they must be ratified by the federal parliament. That left it up to the Socialists to try defeating ratification.

Spokesmen for the Allies and Germans, meanwhile, announced after they had reached agreement on 25 points in the proposed peace contract, leaving only five to finish in their final meeting Monday.

A haggard and exhausted senior Allied official said afterwards that the session cleared up enough of the outstanding points in the treaty, which paves the way for German contribution to western defence, to make the signing "almost a certainty" by the end of May.

Eastern Germany is carrying on a propaganda campaign against the agreement, warning that its effects will be apparent in West Berlin the day after the treaty is ratified and threatening West German parliament members with reprisals.

Narrow Escape For Three as Boats Collide

MRS. HODGES, HAIG-BROWN HONORED TODAY BY U.B.C.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Speaker of B.C.'s last Legislative Assembly, and popular Victoria Times columnist, and Roderick Haig-Brown, up-island sportsman-writer, were honored by the University of British Columbia at an impressive ceremony in Vancouver this afternoon.

The two were awarded honorary degrees as doctors of laws. Mr. Haig-Brown, in a stirring congratulatory address to graduating students, spoke of Canada's place in the future, and called for sane and sensible use of the power which this nation will have in world affairs.

Complete text of his address appears on Page 24.

B.C., Alberta Flights Resume

Announcement Follows End of Oil
Strike in U.S.; Gas Available

Trans-Canada Air Lines announced today that all flights within B.C. and Alberta that were cut off by the government's order to curtail aviation fuel consumption have been restored. Announcement followed the end of the oil strike in the United States.

Canadian Pacific Air Lines also will resume full B.C. schedules today, and the Vancouver-Calgary trip will be made because fueling can be done in this province.

Officials explained that 91-octane gasoline, used generally by aircraft operating within the province, is now readily available. Larger aircraft on transcontinental flights require 100-octane fuel, which is still in short supply.

All restrictions on use of aviation gasoline in Alberta, Yukon and Northwest Territories are being lifted immediately but in British Columbia restrictions are being removed from grades 91 to 98, which can be used in lighter aircraft, such as helicopters and bush planes but not in heavier aircraft. T. N. Beaugre, assistant deputy minister of defense production said in Ottawa today.

All restrictions are being lifted in Alberta, Yukon and the Northwest Territories because of the existence of a small plant in Calgary which can feed all the needs of that area.

"As for the other parts of Canada, we will lift restrictions just as soon as it appears possible through increased U.S. productions," Beaupre said.

Meanwhile, in Washington it was reported the oil strike had started to cool off today.

Government officials had set up 15 bargaining sessions between union and oil company negotiators across the United States.

O. A. Knight, leader of a coalition of unions on strike for 16 days, said in an interview that "we have called off the strike" and most strikers would be back on the job soon.

MYSTERIOUS 'CAMP X'

Meagre Details at Trial of 7 Men Facing Theft Charge From Camp

PEMBROKE, Ont., May 16 (CP)—Existence of a mysterious "Camp X" was revealed in magistrate's court here Thursday during evidence at the preliminary hearing of seven men on charges of conspiracy and theft.

Military officers called as witnesses mentioned the Camp X, which they said was within the borders of Petawawa Camp. All of them declined to give further details about it.

The camp commandant, Col. Duncan Douglas, said it was a classified project and added: "I think that is sufficient for your purpose."

The seven are accused of participating in recent large-scale thefts at the camp. Evidence was that two of them, Morris and Harry Elsen who operate the Pembroke Salvage Company, had a contract to clear debris from Camp X.

The others are Capt. D. W. Baldock, former army engineer at the camp; S-Sgt. J. M. Young of Fredericton, and Jack Jacobson, David C. Mawhinney and Amos Durant, all of Brockville.

Jacobson is owner of the Jacobson Iron Company, Brockville. Capt. Baldock and S-Sgt. Young also each face two charges of "breach of trust."

First mention of Camp X was given in testimony by Maj. R. R. Munro, deputy assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general, at had been shipped from a siding in Petawawa Camp by the Jacobson Iron Company of Brockville.

J. W. Pickup of Toronto, special Crown prosecutor, introduced documents showing that in the two years, 93,930 pounds of material had been authorized and paid for by the company.

The company had held a contract for the material with the government-operated Crown Assets Disposal Corporation.

R. K. Laisley, counsel for Capt. Baldock, questioned Maj. Reeves at length on security measures at Petawawa. He asked the major if he would be surprised to know that trucks went in and out of the camp without clearance slips.

"With what's gone on—no, sir," Maj. Reeves replied. He said it might be possible for any officer in camp to sign a slip that would be honored by the guard at the gate.

The hearing is continuing. All accused have chosen to be tried by a higher court. The hearing Thursday proceeded against all but S-Sgt. Young, who was charged only two days ago and whose case was remanded until today.

Runabout Sinks Off Cadboro Bay

Two men and a young student nurse narrowly escaped drowning Thursday night when a 17-foot runabout boat, Adios, collided with a second craft at the entrance to Cadboro Bay and sank within a minute.

The trio had only time to don life jackets as the boat sank beneath them in about 30 feet of water after being rammed broadside by the 22-foot express cruiser Tomboy.

The Tomboy was doing about 20 knots and the Adios 30 knots when they collided.

Pulled out of the water were Lorne Prevost, 23, of 828 Hampshire Road, owner of the sunken boat Adios; Ray Jefferson, 24, of 238 Moss, and student nurse Margaret Kilgore, 23.

They were rescued by the Tomboy's owner, 24-year-old Tom Reid, 2150 Windsor, and two companions, Jack Nelson, 25, and Rod Fraser, 21.

Miss Kilgore suffered a cut knee.

AVOIDED LOG

Prevost said the two craft had just cleared the harbor entrance outward-bound from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, when the Tomboy was forced to swing sharply to avoid a floating log and ran into the Adios.

Water poured into the smaller craft as Prevost and Jefferson helped Miss Kilgore into a life jacket, donned a couple themselves and were thrown into the water.

Jefferson could not swim. The Tomboy tried to make for shore as its skipper thought that it was sinking but turned around to pick up the trio in the water when a quick check of the damage showed it was still seaworthy.

The sunken runabout was worth about $1,500.

Reid and Prevost set out today to try and hook into the Adios with a grappling iron in an attempt to raise the boat—if they are successful in locating it, they plan to try and salvage the motor over the week-end.

The Adios was not covered by insurance.

Another difficulty was a scarcity of freshly slaughtered horse meat in quantity, he said. He said he had to buy such small quantities that it did not pay.

"The horse meat business is folding up all over Canada," Tremblay said.

Drink Costs Weary Driver $200 Penalty

A motorist who had worked "nearly a 24-hour day" for a week before being charged with impaired driving early last Sunday was fined $200 in Saanich police court Thursday.

Archibald Turner, Cobble Hill, was fined after defense counsel Donald Cameron told Magistrate H. C. Hall that his client had driven down to Victoria every morning from up-island to attend the B.C. Products Fair as an exhibitor and then had driven home each night about midnight.

Cameron said he had spoken to a witness who was with Turner before his arrest who said that he had not considered the accused drunk at the time.

"But," added Mr. Cameron, "there is no defense whatsoever whenever an accused has had anything to drink. The accused does not deny he had a drink but there was no question that he was tired."

Turner told police an oncoming car forced him off the road. Cameron asked that consideration in the case of a license suspension be given as Turner was the sole B.C. salesman for his product and had to cover many rural areas.

Magistrate Hall said he would "bear these matters in mind" when he sent in a report to the superintendent of motor vehicles.

South Seas. After a five-month cruise, half of the Eloise's crew planned to settle in Hawaii. The Ewing took the yacht in tow and headed back to San Francisco. (NEA Telephoto.)

Reds Virtually Give Allies Dare To Break Off Truce Negotiations

MUNSAN, Korea, May 16 (AP)—For the ninth straight day Red truce negotiators blasted the Allies and again virtually dared them to formally break off the armistice talks.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, spoke for only two minutes of the 30-minute session. To "reject finally and formally" the Red prisoner exchange proposal and suggest a recess until the Reds have something new to offer.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il replied: "Unless you formally declare the termination of these armistice negotiations, you have no reason to object to the normal holding of conferences."

Another session was scheduled at Panmunjon Saturday at 11 a.m. (7 p.m. Friday P.D.T.). The rejected Red proposal called for exchange of 132,000 captured Reds for the 12,000 Allied captives in Communist hands.

Nam Il was equally firm in rejecting the Allied voluntary repatriation plan. It would return only 70,000 prisoners to the Reds. The rest of the Red prisoners questioned refuse to return to the Communist territory, the U.N. command said.

The prisoner issue is blocking an armistice.

Nam Il said a letter written by Brig-Gen. Charles F. Colson, former commander of the Allies' Koje Island prison, "has disclosed to the whole world the utter bankruptcy of your position."

Colson wrote the note to obtain release of Brig-Gen. Francis T. Dodd, who was seized by the prisoners. The letter, since repudiated by the top Allied command, admitted guards had killed prisoners (in Red riots) and promised "humane treatment."

Joy said he told the Reds "they were cloaking their fears of the truth and dodging our re-screening program. I told them the remainder of their remarks were unworthy of notice."

The Red general declared the "The Geneva convention stipulates the so-called screening of shop-war prisoners cannot be permitted. You attempt to tear the Geneva convention to pieces. We will not join you. Neither will any true impartial organization join you."

Ottawa Allows $10 Boost in Export Newsprint Over Objections From U.S.

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—The Federal Government has agreed to allow a $10-a-ton increase in the price of newsprint for export, but not on sales to Canadian publishers, a federal spokesman disclosed today.

The spokesman said the increase was allowed because of the boosted exchange value of the Canadian dollar, lowering returns of sales in New York. Exporters quoted their price in New York in United States funds.

They have complained to the government that the rise of the Canadian dollar from a discount of almost 10 per cent to almost two per cent above par, has reduced their returns in Canadian funds by about $10 a ton.

They also indicated that higher production costs also cut their net return. Last year about 89 per cent of Canadian production went to the United States. The price was boosted by $10 a ton in Canada and the U.S. last July, bringing it to $112 a ton in Canada and to $116 a ton in New York (U.S. funds).

The last boost caused so much controversy between the two countries, that Canada finally agreed to consult with the United States before any further increases were granted.

Actually there is no price control over Canadian newsprint. But under federal emergency powers, a newsprint administration was created with power to curb or boost prices as the government saw fit.

In this case, the federal government has simply stated that it will not interfere with the proposed increase by Canadian producers and has so informed the United States.

Meanwhile, in Washington price stabilizer Ellis Arnall said he has objected to the Canadian government and has urged that the increase be denied.

Arnall said an increase will, of course, boost the cost of publishing newspapers and other publications in the U.S. About 90 per cent of the paper used by U.S. publishers is imported from Canada.

The Danger Point

BY REMOVING CREDIT CONTROLS simultaneously the governments of Canada and the United States have both indicated their view that the inflationary problem has greatly eased, if it has not disappeared altogether. Only time will show whether this assumption is correct.

While deflationary factors certainly are in flow—a larger supply of goods than the economists had expected and a smaller demand, with the resulting fall in wholesale prices—on the other hand new factors of inflation are now appearing. They seem to be larger than governments had expected.

At the moment industry throughout America is being pressed for sharp wage increases. These cannot fail to raise the costs of production. Industry may absorb some of those increases out of profits but assuredly they cannot all be absorbed. Wherever possible industry will hand the increased costs on to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

This familiar process continued from the outbreak of the Korean war to the latter part of 1951. It was almost an automatic process which the consumer could not escape. Now conditions have changed. For the first time since 1950 the supply of most goods equals or exceeds the demand. Under these conditions industries which raise prices too high cannot hope to sell their goods. If their prices are too high their products will be priced out of the market.

The result of excessive costs, therefore, no longer is merely an increase in price. It can well be a fall in output as the high-priced goods fail to find customers. Thus not only goods, but labor can be priced out of the market. This already has happened in some Canadian industries, like construction. It has happened on a minor scale even in the affairs of the city of Victoria, where a council facing intolerable costs has attempted to reduce the number of its employees.

Extended into other fields, the process of excessive costs reducing output and employment could greatly damage the workers who hope to benefit from it.

The danger today is that the whole economy will not be merely inflated or deflated but distorted, with damage to everybody.

In this problem Canada cannot operate as an isolated island. Its prices, wages and profits are involved inextricably in the economy of the world.

During the 1947 dollar crisis Mr. Abbott said, in a famous aside, that "we are living beyond the means of our customers." That was to say, our foreign customers could not afford to buy our goods. True enough, but Mr. Abbott could have said just as accurately that we were living beyond our own means, because our means do not exceed those of our customers.

The fact that Canada has great supplies of certain goods does not necessarily prove that the Canadian people can use them. We cannot consume all our own timber, metals, wheat, beef and many other things.

We can consume them only by turning them into some other product in the course of trade with other countries. We may cut a log at Cowichan Lake and finally consume it in the form of an orange imported from California or an automobile made in Coventry.

By trade of this sort we achieve a maximum utilization of our resources, a maximum consumption of goods. If we now proceed to raise the cost of production and the price of our goods beyond the ability of foreign customers to meet it then our own consumption must fall. The unsold log or the metal or the wheat does not buy us oranges or our imported automobile.

There lies the greatest danger in our present increase in production costs. We can price ourselves not only out of the domestic but out of the foreign market. This we may soon do in the case of B.C. timber, for instance, as we have already done in the case of fish. While wages may be increased apparently to the benefit of labor they can create unemployment and a falling standard of living if they go far enough. We have reached that danger point in Canada today.

Tribute to Our Educationists

THE PARENTS OF MISS DIANE Sawyer, Governor-General's Medal winner at the University of British Columbia, have extended a gracious tribute to Victoria teachers and professors. Much of the success enjoyed by their daughter they attribute to the encouragement and inspiration received from the late Reg. Hammond and from Prof. J. A. Cunningham during the student's years at Victoria High School and Victoria College respectively.

Significantly enough, results of this year's examinations show four Victoria College graduates leading their respective classes at U.B.C. and many more listed among winners of scholarships and prizes.

The record speaks for itself. It is unnecessary for Victorians to brag about the standards maintained by young men and women who leave this city for study in other centres. Staff members at the University of British Columbia have traditional high standards in their praise of the preparation afforded at the college to those who advance to higher study at Point Grey.

Attention is drawn to the record now merely to remind the citizens of this community of their good fortune in possessing the facilities and the faculties they have.

Greater Victoria is proud of the young men and women who have done so well in their recent examinations and joins with them in a natural pride in the local institutions which helped to equip them for the advancement they have made.

Strengthening Driving Sanctions

DEFINITE ACTION HAS BEEN taken by the department of justice to cure the weakness in the Criminal Code covering license suspension of car drivers convicted on charges of "impaired" driving.

That clause in the proposed code amendments is not yet law, but is under review leading to enactment in Ottawa. Conceivably the revised code will be in force within a year.

The specific clause relating to license suspension corrects an oversight that occurred when the "impaired" driving section was added to the existing law. At that time no provision was made to permit magistrates or courts to order suspension following conviction—a fact disclosed by the well-publicized Hanna judgment.

Under the present draft, that power would be supplied, permitting suspension of driving privileges for a period up to three years—and making the suspension part of the sentence.

It has been noted in these columns that such power has been enjoyed continuously by the superintendent of the motor vehicles branch. Its exercise, however, was not as readily apparent to the driving public, and in consequence suspension, probably the most effective sanction which could be enforced, lost much of its value as a deterrent.

Provided the draft is finally passed, this change will place the authority to cancel driving privileges where it belongs—in the hands of the magistrate or court. The sooner legislation covering that point is approved the better it will be for the enforcement of more careful driving.

Simple Rules for Water Safety

FROM FRUITVALE, NEAR TRAIL, last week-end, came the report of a drowning tragedy which claimed the lives of a non-swimmer father and his 14-year-old son. The story will be told again, with variations, during the next few months as more British Columbians take pleasure trips to rivers, lakes and the seashore.

No complete safeguard can be erected against drowning accidents. Good swimmers, sometimes through no apparent fault of their own, are occasionally victims. On the other hand, it is quite possible to cut down the occurrence of that form of death by the observance of safety rules.

In the first place, everyone who does not suffer from a specific disability should learn to swim. Instruction may be obtained from any number of centres throughout the province.

Secondly, ordinary precautions, widely publicized by such agencies as the Red Cross water safety branch, should be observed. The rules are simple enough. They include warnings against swimming too soon after meals, against swimming alone or in the dark, against foolhardy play and against diving into unknown water. There are many other tips for those who wish to enjoy water sports as free from danger as they can be made. And there is ample opportunity for the swimmer to learn the rudiments of rescue work and resuscitation.

Warm weather in the next few weeks will send thousands of Greater Victorians to the seashore and water resorts. Safety preparations now can increase their enjoyment.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

IF YOU think I know what the world is coming to, you're coming to the wrong chips, chaps. I simply don't know what the world is coming to. Especially in the matter of fly-swatters. Do you realize that the fly-swatter factories have just about ceased to make fly-swatters at all? Or may have ceased entirely, by now. Things have come to a pretty pass. I went to my grocer to buy a swatter, and he said I was lucky, he just happened to have one left from last year, and wouldn't be getting any more. Because they aren't made any more. Because people prefer those squirty bomb-things, or DDT, or a sprayer filled with perfumed gasoline.

Brock said I was lucky, he just happened to have one left from last year, and wouldn't be getting any more. Because they aren't made any more. Because people prefer those squirty bomb-things, or DDT, or a sprayer filled with perfumed gasoline.

SWATTERS are ugly and inefficient. They can't poison your food or even sink it up with scented petroleum products. They can't cover the kitchen with a thin film of oil. And anything that can't cover the world with a thin film of oil is out of date. The very oceans are covered with a thin film of oil, as birds and bathers and yachtsmen will attest. So are the trees, near any highway or city. So, probably, are your lungs, and your laundry, and your limousine. That's on account of Progress.

But there are two good things about swatters, all the same. They offer an emotional outlet to the person wielding them. The action of hitting a man over the head with a baseball bat is far more satisfactory than squirting him with poison. And thus with flies. Primitive? Well, I prefer to call it basic. But call it primitive if you like. Most good things are primitive, from beefsteak to the painter Giotto. (This doesn't mean all primitive things are good.)

THE other good things about swatters is that flies are unable to breed a new strain which is immune to swatters. In many parts of the world the flies are beginning to laugh at DDT. Just as new strains of germs appear able to resist penicillin and some of the sulfas. But no matter how you swat off the weaker flies, you're not going to wind up with a super-race of flies that will swat you right back again and ask for more. Call that nothing?

My grocer suggested that I might be able to pick up a few fly-swatters in some second-hand or antique store. At least, this is the impression he gave me. He has a tendency to exaggerate about all sorts of things... including the merits of certain groceries. But all the same, I think the museums should be looking round now, before it is too late.

OIL AND WATER

I WAS mentioning the oil-film on the oceans just now. This brings me, more or less directly, to the good old word "vaseline." Yes, I know this is a trade-name, the property of the company that invented the word. But since we've spelt the word with a small V for so long, I'm sure the owners won't mind my dealing with it as part of the language.

I got curious about how and when it was invented, so I looked it up in good old Weekley... the chap who wrote the only entertaining dictionary of derivations. These dictionaries are called etymological dictionaries, but I can't remember that word, because it gets me all mixed up with entomological, which has something to do with bugs. I mean natural bugs, not unnatural bugs. In other words, I mean beetles who are bugs, not people and professors who are bugs. And if you're fond of words, you will note that nice distinction between people and professors.

ONCE tried to remember that etymology, and "words" is a shorter word than "etymology," and "etymology" is a longer word than "words" or even than "beetles." The hell with it. May all professors be preserved in mothballs. And be carefully packed in jargon, too, to keep them from jostling each other in transit and maybe getting cracked.

WELL, I looked up "vaseline" in Weekley, and I saw wonders. Unlike the names of most modern products, such as Beh, Pof, Zik, Yat, and Jup, the word "vaseline" was deliberately concocted to mean something. And what a meaning! Its inventor took the first three letters of the German word for water, which is "wasser," and he changed the W to V. This gave him VAS (lucky man). Then he took the first two letters of the Greek word for oil, giving him EL... can't print the word here... no Greek type available at the moment, though we're hoping to get out a Greek edition of the Times any day now. And then he added INE, which is a chemical suffix for a derived substance. (Though I fancy that vaseline is not derived from water and oil, but from the residue of distilled petroleum passed through animal charcoal.)

And yet they say water and oil won't mix! Heck, if German and Greek can mix, anything can mix.

TALKING of startling trade-names, including Blik and Dork and Wex. I see there is going to be a new luxury apartment-house in West Vancouver, and each of its buildings will have a seaside name, such as Surf House, Tide House, and so on. I'm surprised that there is as yet no plan for a Rins House, an Oxydol House, and a Lux House. Or possibly, a House de Lux, and Ivory Snow for the old retired couples. Something missing in this soap opera.

Under Our Roof

By JOHN RHODES STURDY

MONTREAL—We have decided to fly back to the Coast, but as the airlines appear to be short of gas at the moment, there may be some delay before we can obtain seats. So Hamish and Little Augie and myself are holed up in our local hotel under the shadow of Mount Royal, waiting for a call from the airline office.

We are broke again, and it's a good thing I bought the plane tickets beforehand. Since I have been travelling with Hamish and Little Augie I've become very smart about things like that, and am now a firm believer in the Boy Scout motto, "Be Prepared."

Take yesterday. The three of us were sitting around the room, doing nothing, when Little Augie, who was parked near the wall, suddenly cocked an ear and put up his hand for silence. "Do you hear a clicking sound?" he asked.

"It's Hamish's teeth," I suggested. "I'm not wearing my teeth," said Hamish.

"It's coming from the next room," announced Little Augie with a sudden glint in his eye, "and it sounds to me very much like the music of ivory cubes."

He grabbed the telephone and I heard him ask who was occupying Room 28 which was right next door, and when he put down the receiver he smiled at Hamish and me.

"I was right," he said, "The next room is occupied this week by the Montreal Cultural, Social and Athletic Association for the Advancement of Economic Relations. In other words, it is Whispering Willie's Floating Dice Game."

Well, it had been a long time since I had heard of Whispering Willie. Back in my younger days as a reporter in Montreal, Willie had been a prominent figure in the cultural life of the metropolis. His dice game had been a permanent institution then, and had occupied premises quite as palatial and dignified as any of the city's most exclusive private clubs. In fact, you had to be highly recommended and sponsored to get into Whispering Willie's.

But about that time a new regime was installed in City Hall which thought the police should have something to occupy their time, and so Whispering Willie was closed out. He had to give up his permanent quarters, but he continued to operate on a floating basis, moving from one place to another just ahead of the police.

Willie was a smart business man and did away with competition by a rather ingenious method. Whenever he heard a rival was setting up trade in a certain location, Willie would hire sandwichmen to march up and down St. Catherine Street with placards proclaiming: "Come One. Come All! Big Dice Game in Room Five, Meglomania Building, Tonight at 8.15."

Of course, the police could not very well ignore this, and so they would promptly raid Willie's rival in Room Five at the Meglomania Building. After a time Willie had the whole field to himself.

"Give me your money," said Little Augie. "Half an hour with Willie and I'll make enough to buy an airplane."

"How do you know you'll be lucky?" I asked him. "If you lose this money we're sunk."

"Pah," he said, "you're looking at Little Augie, the man who never loses." After he had left, with the money and my gold watch, Hamish said: "I'm werry worried."

"Put your teeth in, Hamish," I said. "I can't understand a word you're saying."

Hamish went to the sink and then turned a frantic face towards me. "He's taken them!" he wheezed. "He's taken my teeth!"

That was an account of the gold in them, I suppose. Trust Little Augie to think of everything.

We waited a long time for him to return. Through the wall we could hear the sound of dice clicking together. After about three hours of this I was beginning to think that Little Augie must be on a winning streak, and I conjured up visions of returning to our island home with my bag bursting with expensive presents for my wife.

At five o'clock in the afternoon the door of our room opened and Little Augie entered.

He was in his underwear. "I don't know," he said sadly, "I guess it just isn't my day."

"Where are my teeth?" mumbled Hamish.

"They went on the last roll," said Little Augie. He raised his hands in a gesture of resignation.

"Snake Eyes!" he added bitterly.

Kops Korps

Toronto Globe and Mail

Little importance need be attached to the bellicose statement from East Berlin that the Soviet zone of Germany is going to raise an army of self-defence. The Soviet zone has had an army, under another name, in training for more than a year.

To carry out the announced plans of Wilhelm Pieck, the puppet president of East Germany, all that needs to be done is to change the title of a force already in being.

It is now known as the People's Police or Volkspolizei and its advanced state of preparation was described in dispatches from Berlin last January. At that time the militarized branch of this so-called Volkspolizei had 54,000 officers and men. Included in the equipment were 50 T-34 Soviet tanks, about 150 heavy German artillery pieces and—most remarkable of all—a flotilla of minelayers and anti-aircraft vessels operating from Baltic Sea ports.

If President Pieck now wants to call this military machine an army instead of a police force, that will have no effect on the situation except to introduce a note of honesty.

As Our Readers See It

UNWEBSTERLY

May I offer my congratulations to your paper on solving what must be a vexing problem; how to print arresting headlines without the use of extra-large type. After years of paper-and-ink-consuming emphasis of the trivial, you have hit on the ingenious and economical ruse of including in your headline a mysterious word.

Today (Tuesday) it is "HASSLE." How innocent it looks at first, in its respectable, mayor-and-council context! But as we pass on reluctantly to the story which follows, it becomes evident that this is a word of sinister connotation, a secret weapon beyond the ken of Webster.

"HASSLE"—there are faint elusive overtones about it, reminiscent of other, less potent words. One savours it like a strange, foreign dish, in which are familiar yet fragile traces of well-known ingredients.

The dictionary makes the mystery more tempting, with tantalizing words that almost give away the secret of the brew; words like "hasset," which Webster defines as the edible viscera of a hog. Now that has possibilities—much more than the well-known "haggis" or "hashish."

Perhaps my dictionary is at fault; it seems to leave out "RASSLE" as well as "HASSLE." If you know anyone who still has use for a dictionary, please let me know and I will forward it to the Aged Persons Home at once.

A truly novel idea, this use of terrifying words to enmesh the unwary and the curious.

You may print this if you dabble, "OBSERVER."

(Editor's Note: The unwary head-writer who introduced that word into a front-page line didn't know the meaning of a genuine "hassle" until the boss saw it.)

SANCTIFIED

In answer to Marian N. Sherman's letter I would like to point out that the doctrines of Christ Jesus were intended to divide.

Jesus prayed, speaking of those that believed on him and would believe on him through their word, "Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth." The word sanctify (scripturally) means, "to separate," not to separate those who believe in Christ Jesus from one another, but to separate them from all that would come between them and God.

It is truth upheld that unites Christians; it is error taught and upheld or lived that divides them.

PLAYS REVIEWED

I only saw a few of the plays in the recent drama festival, but should like to comment upon two of them.

In "The Illusionist" Mrs. Edith Gibson gave a splendid performance. Every word came over as clear as a bell, thanks to a fine voice well used and perfect articulation. The words were full of life and spoken with vivid intelligence. The dialect in this play was excellently given.

I well remember Sir John Martin Harvey, the great English actor, warning me many years ago to be very careful when using dialect, to speak it clearly as well as with authenticity.

Of the plays I saw, I thought "White Iris" was the most evenly played. A small part badly played, can let down a play pretty badly, but in this particular play the small part of Dorcas, the maid, had been carefully thought out and a splendid characterization was given, the result a very definite uplift given to the whole play, and the principal characters ably assisted to sustain their own fine characterizations.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"IT'S a pity," said the Elevator Man, "but one of mankind's worst problems is the fact that a fellow rarely looks just the way he thinks he should. We all have our little ideal pictures in the back of our minds. We see ourselves as the Big Tycoon, the Famous Lawyer, the Jolly, Good-Natured Pal, the Serious Thinker, the Martyr, and so on. We have visions of our physical aspect just won't use at will. But we have to employ the same old face and figure for each of them. And for most faces, a change of expression isn't enough. We really need a whole new make-over job. That's why, when we're Rich and Trueheart, Midas Goldrocks III, or John Q. Brainstorm inside, to the outside world we're still just old Joe Doakes who lives down the street. While in imagination we're dashing off on a white charger with a lance under our arm, we're really—and the neighbors can see it—climbing into the 5.15 bus with a bundle of rubarb for supper. Our physical aspect just won't keep up with our mental demands. And perhaps it's just as well it doesn't. Lower main!"

"You can understand," said the Elevator Man, "why little Joe Doakes can't look like the heroes he imagines he is. But it's disappointing to learn that the big shots themselves seldom look like themselves. So we have newsreel cameramen complaining that the important people they photograph don't look right on the screen. Clement Attlee, when he was Prime Minister of Britain, had one of the world's top jobs. But to the photographers who wanted him to look like it, he was just a 'poor little gentleman'... very bewildered! Then there was Hugh Galtzell, who had charge of Britain's finances—a big job for a big man. Say the camera men, he invariably looked like nothing so much as a refugee from Sing Sing! It makes you wonder, if little men imagine they're big, do big men imagine they're little? And then begin to look like it? Going down!"

"But of course," said the Elevator Man, "all these are imaginative dimensions. They're harder to understand than the physical measurements such as that newly-wed used when she was buying a dozen oysters. 'Large or small, medium?' asked the dealer. 'Well,' says the bride, 'they're for a man with a size 15 collar.'"

For Safety

Calgary Herald

It is encouraging to learn that the federal government wants to take immediate action to safeguard the lives of citizens residing around this country's major airports.

By making building restrictions of the same high calibre throughout Canada, every municipality can be made reasonably safe. The federal Department of Transport makes the regulations for flying in Canada and ought to know what the safety limits should be. This will eliminate haphazard municipal zoning bylaws.

Wheat Growth Up to 6" Reported on Prairies

WINNIPEG, May 16 (CP)—Wheat growth up to six inches in Manitoba, four in Saskatchewan and more than three in Alberta was reported today in the weekly crop surveys issued by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

The reports said oats and barley now are showing above ground in many localities in the three Prairie provinces.

Moisture reports showed Manitoba could use heavy general rains. Saskatchewan required more moisture in most of the southeast and areas in the south-central and east-central sections of the province. Alberta needed rain in a few districts of the southern and north-central sections.

The reports said seeding is progressing satisfactorily in all three provinces although some points delayed because of rain. In the south-central section of Saskatchewan, 94 per cent of the wheat in the ground, Saskatchewan 69 and Alberta about 50 per cent.

Most of the 1951 crop left on the ground last fall has been harvested. However, some districts in central Alberta had just started to harvest last year's crop.

Island Park Camps Ready

Wells Gray Park, some 90 miles north of Kamloops, and considered a fisherman's paradise, will be open to the public next year. E. G. Oldham, forester in charge of parks and recreation, B.C. Forest Service, told the Rotary Club Thursday.

Mr. Oldham said the provincial parks division was also aiming at establishing overnight camping facilities throughout the province. Fine picnic facilities have been established at Cameron Lake Park and Little Qualicum Falls Park on the Island, he said.

It was announced at the meeting that the Rotary Club will hold its next luncheon in the dining room of the new nurses' home at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Facilities of the Empress Hotel, usual luncheon location for the service club, will be filled by delegates to a Lions Club district convention, it was explained.

Police Alert For Speeders

A crackdown is on against motorists who violate the 50 m.p.h. speed limit on the new Patricia Bay highway. Saanich police department has given fair warning.

Nine motorists found it out the hard way in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon after pleading guilty to violating the speed limit from speeds ranging from 60-75 miles an hour.

Fined $25 each were: Arnold Moran, Sidney; Charles F. Hase, Vancouver; John B. Murray, Sidney; William Hayward, H.M.C.S. Naden; Justin V. Harbord, 2700 Beach Drive; Arthur Broughton, 2074 Goldsmith; Roy H. Exstrom, Oldfield Road, and an American tourist who paid a fine out of court.

One motorist, Derek Todd, 1586 York Place, pleaded not guilty but was convicted and fined $25 by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Said the magistrate: "This is a serious situation on the new road."

"Most of the area is heavily populated... speeds over 50 m.p.h. are highly dangerous."

He warned that there will "have to be heavier penalties" in the future with accompanying suspension of drivers' licenses.

C.C.F. Candidates Promise Solution To 'Ills' of B.C. Hospital Insurance

Saskatchewan's C.C.F. government "jolts" British Columbia's Coalition government into institution of a hospital insurance plan, Mrs. May Campbell, Victoria C.C.F. candidate, said at a Burnside meeting Thursday night.

"When Saskatchewan brought in hospital insurance, the Coalition felt obliged to follow suit so they hastily cobbled together a plan without any real planning or organization. We all know the results, and are suffering from them," she said.

Mrs. Campbell said the C.C.F. pledges to abolish co-insurance and roll back premium rates. The loss of revenue, she explained, would be made up by heavier taxation on those who are exploiting the province's natural resources and not making adequate contribution to the public service.

William Caird, another city candidate, said the present government's policy of getting revenue from the ordinary citizen, rather than from big corporations, is a clear indication of what interests are served by Liberals and Conservatives.

Colin Cameron, city candidate, termed as "poppycock and nonsense" government claims that the Aluminum Company of Canada has already paid $1,100,000 into the provincial treasury.

The candidate said the company has paid $20,000.

DUNCAN, May 16.—Court cases involving charges arising in the city will be tried in the City Hall pending a decision on the jurisdiction of Col. A. C. Sutton, new police magistrate, and the legality of trying city cases in the R.C.M.P. station in North Cowichan.

DUNCAN, May 16.—Duncan Chamber of Commerce will take its complaint of the narrow highway passage under the Koksilah C.N.R. trestle to the government traffic safety officer and permanent traffic safety committee.

NANAIMO, May 16.—Nanaimo School Board has defended its stand of not imposing a flat fee for tuition of Indian students by saying that it provides for all Indian students required to attend school, whereas others limit the enrolment.

The Department of Education criticized the board by saying that the flat fee plan was to facilitate bookkeeping and to ensure charging the Indian department a net figure of cost.

LADYSMITH, May 16.—High school students were blamed for rolling a stone down a bank that broke a 10-inch water main.

City council has considered placing the whole pipe line area out of bounds, and covering the line with soil for protection.

Although a lunch room is provided at the school, many students spend the noon hour at Holland Creek near the main.

Nanaimo Boy Drowns Near Home

NANAIMO, May 16 (BUP).—An eight-year-old boy drowned near Nanaimo Thursday afternoon when he tried to swim across a pond near his home.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police identified the victim as Billy Laberge of East-Wellington. They say he and a companion—Raymond Jacobs—were on their way home from school when they decided to swim across the pond. Raymond made it across safely, but Billy's strength failed when about half-way across.

The boy's body was recovered from about six feet of water. R.C.M.P. expect an inquiry will be held.

Power Commission Surveys Service at Parksville

PARKSVILLE, May 16.—First stage of the project currently under way to improve electrical service to its increasing number of customers here has been completed by the B.C. Power Commission.

Survey of the 60,000-volt line which will be built from the Jingle Pot substation at Nanaimo to Parksville this summer has been carried out, and the next stage—clearing the right-of-way—will get under way around the end of May.

Actual construction of the line is scheduled to start in June. A 3,000 kva substation will be constructed concurrently at the Parksville end of the new line. Located near the intersection of the old and new Alberni roads, the substation will feed three circuits—one north to Bowser, one south to the Craig's Crossing section, and one into Parksville itself.

Trucks Hurls No-Hit Game

Batters Overshadowed By Pitching Brilliance

Virgil Trucks' fine no-hitter and that covey of major league shutouts raise the same old questions: Are the pitchers that good or the batters that weak?

The correct answer probably is somewhere between the two extremes. Certainly Trucks' no-hit, no-run game for Detroit against Washington Thursday was a superb effort. He walked only one and struck out seven.

Carl Ridd Still Centre Of Olympic Casaba Fuss

LONDON, Ont., May 16 (BUP)—The Western Ontario Mustangs reigned today as the first national college basketball champions and set their sights on eliminating the Tillsonburg Livingstones and galloping to the Olympics at Helsinki.

The Mustangs trampled the University of Alberta Golden Bears 75-62 here Thursday night to take their best-of-five title series in three straight games.

The purple and white-clad Londoners ran the westerners into the boards with superior speed and better reserves. The Mustangs, admitted to be inferior in condition, won the first game Monday night 53-47 and the second Tuesday night 64-45.

The title series stretched the Mustangs' unbeaten streak to 11 games against other Canadian colleges.

University of Western Ontario coach Johnny Metras said he would send his Mustangs against the Livingstones Monday night for the Olympic basketball trials, "but only if they don't dress Ridd."

Metras and Dr. Maury Van Vleet, coach of the Golden Bears, had agreed before the series that neither would play Tillsonburg unless the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association rescinded its permission for Carl Ridd of the Winnipeg Varsity to play for the Livingstones.

Ridd was added to the Tillsonburg line-up to strengthen the tobacco-towners for the Olympic trials. C.A.B.A. officials thus far have refused to consider the matter further despite the collegians' complaints.

FOOTBALL APPEALS BOARD UPHOLDS DISPUTED GOAL

LONDON, May 16 (Reuters)—The appeals board of the Football League has upheld the disputed goal by which Tottenham Hotspurs beat Huddersfield in a league match April 2, it was learned today.

Huddersfield maintained the goal should be disallowed as Tottenham forward Eddie Bailey broke a law by kicking the ball twice in succession off a corner kick. Bailey's first shot rebounded off the referee and he tackled the ball a second time—before any other player had touched it—passing to Len Duquemin, who then scored the first and only goal of the match.

The decision means that Tottenham retains second place to Manchester United in the league championship without having to replay the game against Huddersfield.

Ten Entries Expected For Preakness Gallop

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—The names of the two "big" horses, Sub Fleet and Blue Man, are expected to be dropped into the entry box along with two others this morning, thus completing a lineup of 10 starters for the 76th running of the Preakness Stakes at ancient Pimlico Saturday.

The 1 1/2-mile gallop, carrying $75,000 in added money, drew six entries Thursday.

But Sub Fleet, the Dixiana Stable express which got second place behind Hill Gail in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, and A. W. Abbott's Blue Man, which rushed to get third, are yet to be named for the Maryland classic.

Others still missing from the prospective field of 10 which would make this the largest number of starters in the race since 1947, are Mrs. Gordon Gulber-

Loes took full advantage of his first starting chance for Brooklyn to whip Pittsburgh's feeble Pirates, 2-0. The 22-year-old kid, who got a $22,000 bonus for signing in 1948, had won three in a row on relief before manager Chuck Dressen gave him his big chance.

Longden Pilots 4,000th Winner

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 16 (UP)—A satisfied grin on his face, jockey Johnny Longden set his sights today on the racing record of England's famed Gordon Richards after passing the landmark of his 4,000th turf winner.

While Longden was bringing nearly two years ahead of the American champion in victories, Richards had two victories in England Thursday to time American record.

As though he had achieved nothing special in bringing home Fleet Diver for victory No. 4,000 in a 25-year riding career, Longden was back in the saddle today with six mounts scheduled at Hollywood Park.

"Naturally it was a great thrill," Longden conceded when asked about scoring that particular victory in the third race Thursday.

Asked if he was shooting for whatever mark Richards hangs up before he retires, Longden shook his head and said: "He keeps riding and I keep riding. If he ever retired, maybe I'd have a chance to pass him. I still feel good in the saddle and I'll keep trying for some time."

Increased Interest Rates Hitting City Debentures

The city will suffer a certain financial loss when it sells debentures to meet $290,000 for school board needs.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt told council's finance committee Thursday "discount" would be suffered owing to increase in interest rates over the last few years.

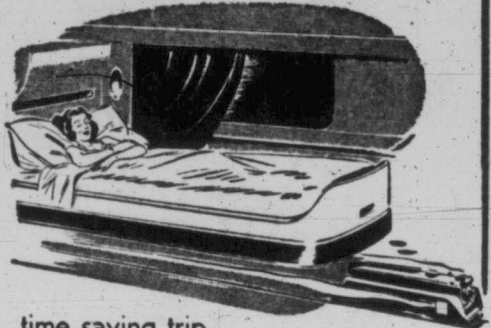

He asked for authority to call for tenders for $300,000 in debentures from the 1947 school loan by-law and $58,000 from the 1950 by-law.

"The city must absorb the discount, not the school board," Mr. Wyatt advised.

The committee will make the recommendation to City Council.

"The city will have to sell debentures in excess of the amount required because of the low interest rate which was authorized at the time of the passing of the original by-law," Mr. Wyatt said.

Amount of the city's loss will not be known until bids are called and one accepted, he said. The debentures call for an interest rate of 2% to 3%.

Canadian Forces Taking More to U.S. Equipment

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—The Commons defense-spending committee got a new glimpse Thursday at the post-war trend of Canada's forces away from British equipment towards use of American and Canadian gear.

Moving through another forest of statistics, the committee learned that the navy is engaged in creating its own catalogue of stores for the first time.

Elgin Armstrong, assistant deputy defense minister, said the navy used the British naval catalogue of stores up to 1949 but the trend away from British to American and Canadian equipment made it necessary to prepare a Canadian catalogue.

His statement indicated that all three forces have been affected. The army has announced a policy of Americanizing its arms. The air force is using U.S. and Canadian planes.

Mr. Armstrong said it will take another two years to complete

Malan Jams Through Measure to Override Courts

CAPETOWN, May 16 (CP)—Amid Opposition charges of Hitler tactics Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist Government jammed its court-veto bill through Parliament's Lower House Thursday night by a vote of 82 to 57.

The controversial measure, which would give Parliament a final say on court rulings on constitutional questions, goes to the Senate next week. The Government has a slight majority there.

The vote on the third and final reading came after the Nationalists shut off debate by the Opposition by invoking cloture. Only 10 Opposition speakers had been heard when discussions were cut off.

Just before the gag action, an Opposition member likened the Nationalists to Hitler who, he said, had avoided adverse court decisions by special legislation and had gone on to "pulverize the Reichstag Opposition by use of the gag, the guillotine and all-night sittings."

The immediate object of the bill is to reinstitute Government-sponsored legislation taking the right of the participation in general election-voting from 50,000 coloreds (persons of mixed blood) in Cape Province. The Appeals Court had ruled the act was unconstitutional because it was passed without the two-thirds majority required for changes in the constitution.

When the Government ended the debate Thursday night, there were shouts of "There goes another freedom."

The legislation is part of Premier Malan's white-supremacy program. But Opposition members, many of them of British descent, fear that Malan will also use the Parliamentary veto to ban English as a national language in South Africa, leaving only Afrikaans.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

$500,000 Paper Plant Planned for Edmonton

EDMONTON, May 16 (CP).—Martin Paper Products Ltd., of Winnipeg and Calgary, announced Thursday that it will build a modern corrugated box plant at Edmonton at a cost of $500,000.

President D. A. Hindle said plans have been finalized for construction of the plant and work will begin immediately.

The one-story structure is to occupy a site 250 by 120 feet.

Mr. Hindle said production will begin within three or four months. A staff of 40 to 50 will be employed at the beginning.

Traffic Death
RUSSELL, Man., May 16 (CP).—An automobile rolled over into a ditch near here Thursday night, killing a 58-year-old father of 16 children.

Killed was Louis Borkovsky, of the Russell district. Three passengers in the car were injured, none seriously.

Russell is 85 miles northwest of Brandon.

Record Membership

EDMONTON, May 16 (CP).—Walter C. Caton, secretary of the Edmonton Branch of the Alberta Motor Association, said Thursday provincial reports disclose that at the end of April the association had a record membership of 73,133.

The Edmonton branch at the end of April had a membership of 35,903, Calgary 28,043, Lethbridge 5,707 and Red Deer 5,478.

The A.M.A. provincial directors will hold their semi-annual meeting at Calgary June 14.

To Receive Degree

WINNIPEG, May 16 (CP).—Three former staff members and two other distinguished Canadians will be presented with honorary Doctor of Laws degrees at the University of Manitoba's 73rd annual convocation Wednesday.

They are: Thomas James Harrison, professor emeritus of agronomy; Dr. Grace Gordon Hood, retiring director of the school of home economics; Dr. D. S. Wood, former dean of education; Joseph Harris, of Winnipeg, president of the Great-West Life Assurance Company, and James M. MacDonnell, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto Greenwood.

Range Management

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., May 16 (CP).—The northern inter-mountain section of the American Society of Range Management said Thursday that the nation's most important crop is wheat grass.

The organization, holding its fifth annual convention at the Dominion experimental station here, spent one session discussing reseedings of grass on range lands.

One person said many depleted ranges in the United States were partially the fault of the individual and partially that of governments.

Hit-and-Miss Red Blockade On Trunk Road

BERLIN, May 16 (Reuters).—Soviet authorities today continued their cat-and-mouse game of letting some United States and British jeeps make patrol runs over the Berlin-West Germany highway and stopping others.

One British and one American car leaving Berlin were waved on their way by Russian sentries, but cars trying to come the other way—from Helmstedt in West Germany—were turned back.

American authorities have given up trying to explain the Russians' conduct, which seems to be holding up patrols on a hit-or-miss basis. The jeeps make the 100-mile run to help any travelers whose cars may have broken down.

A possible clue was seen in a report by the East German news agency A.D.N., which said the deputy chief of staff of Soviet forces in Germany had accused the Americans and British of trying to arrange "illegal" armed patrols along the highway.

NOT 'CRICKET' CO-EDS CLAIM

OXFORD, England, May 16 (Reuters).—The women's cricket club at the University here has not been able to raise an 11-girl squad this year from the 1,000 female students—because they think playing the game develops ugly muscles.

So the few remaining club members are asking men students to be coaches. "That might bring along a few more girls," one of them said today.

Additional Arrangements for Barter Meat Plan Told Commons by Gardiner

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP).—Canada's meat shipments to the United Kingdom, under a barter plan among the two countries and New Zealand announced last week, will be even larger than anticipated.

An additional arrangement under the tripartite plan was announced in the Commons Thursday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

The extra amount of meat will depend on the amount of profits resulting from the sale of frozen New Zealand beef in the United States.

The plan announced last Friday is designed to provide a market for surplus Canadian meat in the face of the United States foot-and-mouth embargo. It involves shipments of about 40,000,000 pounds of meat, mostly beef, to Britain.

This will replace a similar amount of New Zealand frozen beef, part of Britain's order under a long-term agreement with New Zealand. The beef from New Zealand will be sold in the United States.

Canada will be paid in dollars an amount equal to the U.K. price for New Zealand beef. But the U.S. price is expected to be higher than the U.K. price—and Canada and New Zealand will split this profit.

Under the new step announced Thursday, New Zealand will use her share of the profit to buy Canadian meat. Britain will purchase this meat and pay New Zealand in sterling.

Mr. Gardiner said all three countries will benefit. The first shipment of Canadian meat to Britain—600,000 pounds—will likely leave from Montreal May 23.

Production of Red Mill 'Thoroughly Delightful'

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
 Let me say it right away and get it off my chest: I loved "The Red Mill!" It is one of the very few amateur shows I've ever seen that I would be happy to sit through again—all two and a half hours of it!

And not because it is my favorite operetta, nor because the melodies are uncommonly appealing, but because the Gilbert and Sullivan Society's production, which opened Thursday night at the Royal, is so thoroughly delightful.

The society is to be congratulated on the bringing forward of sparkling new talent; notably our own (Times reporter) Dave Stock and Ed Cuppage, whose comedy partnership was without doubt, the hit of the show.

For fear of being accused of prejudice, I'd better not say that Dave impressed me as being the brightest star of the evening! Nevertheless, here is a young man with a fine resonant voice, an innate comedy flair and that priceless gift, a keen sense of timing.

Ed Cuppage was almost equally good in a role that required him to play stooge to his partner in many scenes. It will be a long time before their entrance disguised as Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson will be forgotten. Nor their Italian episode, singing "Good-a-Bye, John"; nor the excruciating seven-language scene.

They gripped the large audience like tried professionals, so that their entrances came to be anticipated with eager drawn breaths and premonitory ripples of laughter.

Lance Whittaker is another who has been hiding his stage light under a bushel of newsprint. His "burgomaster" was substantial, pompous and convincing.

Also among the newcomers, revealing himself as a definite asset, is Alex Murray, who has a good, well-trained baritone voice and poise; and knows the values of the eyes and facial expression in putting over a part.

The duet, "Because You're You," sung by Murray with Peggy Findlay, was musically one of the most satisfying numbers in the opera. Again, a newcomer, Miss Findlay has a warm, richly colored voice of considerable range.

Pauline Barnett, who has sung several leading roles for the Gilbert and Sullivan Society, made a charming heroine and was at her vocal best singing "Moonbeams" from the upper platform of the old mill.

Bernice Fawcett Irwin has developed into a charming soprano and with her fine contralto voice, is an adornment to any production.

It was good to see Bill Findlay, a capable actor, back on the local stage; to note that John Bray is acquiring the art as an adjunct to his outstanding vocal ability and to find an understudy leaping as effectively into a part at the last minute, as Marjorie MacKay did.

Her too-brief appearance as a voluble French countess was amusingly and well handled. "I was glad, too, to see Jimmie Mead-Robbins still in the line-up, and to find a romantically convincing hero in Alan Robertson.

"Alaska" is a corruption of a native word meaning "the great country," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Denied Baseball, L.B.S. With 458 Outlets Folds

DALLAS, May 16 (AP)—Gordon McLendon, the youthful Texan who built a fabulous radio empire by bucking the laws of baseball to bring major league broadcasts to the hinterlands, gave it up today—at least until "the courts grant me relief."

The man who first had to get his play-by-play reports of major league games by listening to a New York radio station then send them to Dallas via teletype, announced that his Liberty Broadcasting System, which grew to 458 stations, was suspending operations.

He charged that the major and minor leagues "entered a conspiracy to deprive him of his rights to broadcast and said the justice department 'didn't have the guts' to fight baseball's violation of the law."

McLendon started his major league broadcasts in 1948 at the age of 27, doing the announcing himself and calling himself "The Old Scotchman." He bucked a baseball law—that which prohibited broadcasting games within 50 miles of a minor league club's home base without the owner's consent. The justice department eventually ruled the 50-mile rule illegal.

You could easily be because it shows some of the 800 additional permanent jobs that will be created during the next two years because of the $65,000,000 Cominco is now spending on new projects.

These new jobs will bring the Company's employment to over 9,000—a big change from the first year's payroll of 175 men.

How has this been done? Chiefly by ploughing back profits from each successful year in exploration, mine development and plant expansion.

Thus profits made possible a steady growth resulting in stable conditions, more jobs at higher wages and security for the future.

No Depression, No Inflation—Howe

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—More jobs, more income and more production are in store for Canadians in 1952, on the prediction of Trade Minister Howe.

The veteran second-in-command of the government, who gladly owns up to being Canada's No. 1 optimist, also forecasts a further drop in the cost-of-living index and says Canada won't have either depression or inflation this year.

But, altogether cheerful prospect of Canadian business at home and abroad was sketched by Mr. Howe as he began piloting his department's annual estimates through the Commons, but Opposition members took issue with him on some points.

Speakers from all three opposing groups urged that steps be taken to bolster the United Kingdom market. Progressives, Conservatives contending a trend towards a greater proportion of export trade with the United States is setting a "dangerous" pattern.

Mr. Howe, who said Canada's exports this year will be a peacetime record, heard a variety of proposals for stepping up trade abroad or putting it on a more stable basis.

The most sweeping came from John Blackmore (S.C.—Lethbridge), who urged that Canada "create" money to lend the United Kingdom $1,000,000,000 a year for the next five years to be used for buying goods from this country.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said means must be found to help Britain earn more dollars so Canada can sell more products there.

One of his supporters — Ross Thatcher (C.C.F.—Moose Jaw)— proposed that Canada help Britain earn dollars by lowering tariffs on British goods and pushing a "Buy British" campaign. Barter or other unorthodox trading methods might be tried.

John Charlton (P.C.—Brantford), chief Progressive Conservative spokesman in the debate, urged that Canada take the lead in trying to get the Commonwealth countries to set up machinery for greater trade within the Commonwealth. A Commonwealth trade conference has been a Progressive Conservative objective for some time.

J. M. Macdonnell (P.C.—Toronto Greenwood) also advocated Canada doing everything possible to increase sales to the British market. He called Mr. Howe's trade review "a tiresome bit of self-congratulation."

Victor Queich (S.C.—Acadia, Alta.) asked that Canada accept sterling from the U.K. in payment for some meat exports, to increase sales there. The money could be invested in Britain to help that country get on its feet.

A plea on behalf of the Canadian consumer came from W. R. Aylesworth (P.C.—Frontenac—Adamsburg, Ont.), a livestock grower. He said retailers are charging too much for meat compared with the price producers get.

Before the House entered the general trade debate, it heard from Agriculture Minister Gardiner that Canada stands to get a somewhat bigger market for surplus beef in the United Kingdom than was originally expected under the Canada-New Zealand-United Kingdom beef-swap deal announced last Friday.

The deal involves the sale in the United States of New Zealand meat which is being traded for U.S. embargoed Canadian meat going to the U.K. and Mr. Gardiner announced New Zealand plans to invest any profits from U.S. sales in further purchases of Canadian meat for Britain.

CARRIED GUN FOR COMFORT

PORTLAND, Me., May 16 (AP)—A 16-year-old prisoner told police today he was wearing a shoulder-holstered revolver just because he "felt more comfortable with it on."

The lad, a state school escapee, was nabbed at a local theatre.

His double feature bill was "Anything Can Happen" and "Young Man With Ideas."

Japanese-American diplomatic relations began in 1854.

Thief, Careless Victims Both Punished Under Soviet Justice

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP)—Russia's slickest embezzler has been sent to a labor camp. His careless victims have been punished, too.

The notorious sharpie, one Timofeev, would work his way into a responsible position with a construction organization or other work group and make off with the cash box. Then he would show faked papers to get another job and steal another cash box.

His exploits during several years netted him 150,000 rubles. The publicity was Timofeev's undoing. He was captured and sentenced to 25 years on a work gang.

The "careless" executives were handed severe "party and administrative disciplining."

Assessor Jailed For Tax Frauds

PORT ARTHUR, May 15 (CP).—Armand Seguin of Ottawa, former Port William income tax assessor, Thursday was sentenced to three years in penitentiary on four charges arising out of irregularities late in 1950 in the Fort William tax office.

Seguin was given two years for conspiracy, three years for defrauding Mrs. Florence Hodgkins of Fort William, three years for defrauding Mrs. Irene Howard, also of Fort William, and three years for uttering a forged document. Then sentences are to run concurrently.

Wallace Charles Duguay, 39-year-old Fort William accountant, was sentenced to two years less a day in reformatory on a conspiracy charge he faced jointly with Seguin.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The paper says natural gas may be piped into Victoria. The first person who mentions coals or Newcastle will have to stay after school.

A friend of ours insists that W. C. Mainwaring, the B.C. electric vice-president, pronounces his name wrongly. The friend says it should be "Mannerling," but the owner of the name seems to be quite happy, hitting on all syllables.

My favorite wife has been trying to get me to pronounce "Tottenham" correctly, in case I wish to cheer for the side when they play the All-Stars. She has convinced me that only barbarians (and radio announcers) call it "Tot-en-ham." As far as I can understand it, the correct pronunciation can best be achieved by swallowing most of the "en" and a good portion of the "ham."

Thus you get a helping of ham and en, which you enjoy, so you say "mmmm," which gives you the right pronunciation for the last syllable.

I am intensely suspicious of any English name, purely on the ground of pronunciation. Ever since the day, back in my childhood, when I learned that Worcester rhymes with rooster, I have approached English place names and surnames with trepidation.

For instance, that wonderful name, Clutterbuck. Everybody I know pronounces it as spell, but you can't convince me this is correct. On the lips of a true Britisher, it should come out "Clawmph."

Clark Gable was reported by a London newspaper as admitting that he believes he is through as a lover.

This report he indignantly denied from Paris, that city of eternal youth. "I'm still young enough to make love—for the movies," he said.

This is one phase of movie-making for which they don't use doubles.

And on the question of advancing age, I like the conversation between Vice-President Allen Barkley and former secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones.

Barkley is 74, Jones is 78, and they were talking about 74-year-old Senator Tom Connally's decision to retire.

"Connally should get out," said Barkley, in all seriousness. "After all, look how old he is."

Fascinating statement, from the personal column: Two gentlemen and dog going east, June 1. That's all the ad said; what I'd like to know is, are they looking for a fourth for bridge?

The hazards of domestic life increase almost daily. In Buffalo, New York, a wife threw a fish at her husband. Then she locked herself in her room. So the husband set fire to the house. His wife escaped through the window just before the house burned to the ground.

The judge took a dim view of the whole proceedings, but gave the husband a light sentence for arson. "After all," said the judge, "it's only a husband and wife action."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Careless driving cost two motorists $35 fines each in police court today. William A. Wigley, 1140 Fort, and David Rennie, Simpson Road, Saanich, pleaded guilty to the charge.

Donald Clouston, H.M.C.S. Simon, was fined $25 for failing to have a current driver's license, and Philip M. Hains, 745 Vancouver, was fined $15 for exceeding a 30 m.p.h. speed limit.

Harry P. Harnsworth, 1929 Beach Drive, received his B.A. degree today at U.B.C. graduation ceremonies. His name was omitted from the university pass list.

The mayor and city council were invited by letter today to attend the annual sports day to be held by Greater Victoria Elementary School Sports Association at Macdonald Park May 23 at 1.15.

The wild cammas will give their farewell performance in the meadowlands of Beacon Hill Park this week-end.

Parks officials are urging all Victorians to take the trip to Beacon Hill to view the display which authorities agree is the "finest ever seen in Victoria."

In the centre of the park, main floral attractions are the flowering wallflowers, pansies, crab-apples, broom and heathers. There are some late-blooming azaleas and hawthorn trees are just coming into bloom.

To complete the rustic picture, fresh broods of mallard ducklings are arriving in ever-increasing numbers.

Communist reports of germ warfare in Korea were disproved emphatically Thursday night by a veteran of the campaign.

Capt. Alan MacGillivray, a member of Canada's advance party, told members of the Cosmopolitan Club he saw no evidence of training in germ warfare by Canadian or U.N. troops in all the time he spent in the Korean theatre.

Dream Team Adjourns News Job to Star in Brightest Amateur Show City Has Seen in Many Years

By TOM MEHRMAN Times Magazine Editor

There was a show at the Royal Theatre last night—Victor Herbert's "Red Mill." It's on Friday night and Saturday night, too. The Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society is producing it. The Victoria Blind Institute gets the gate receipts. You shouldn't miss it.

Dignified, stately news editor of the Victoria Daily Times, an effervescent young reporter, and exactly 103 other performers took part.

The show was a sell out. There wasn't a vacant seat in the house but that's not important because that often happens.

Two things are outstanding. Every member of the Times news staff from the publisher down and half the business office were on hand to see our boys and what's more the reporters all paid for their own tickets.

That's theatrical history; never happened in Victoria before.

For a couple of Victoria newspapers to get parts in a show isn't exactly history though.

Bruce Hutchison, John Shaw and Charlie Shaw used to write and produce plays in their own little theatre under the stars in the wilderness of Esquimalt years ago.

Ben Nicholas used to declaim Shakespeare at some of them. Ken Drury, another Times editor, also once acted with a Sir John Martin Harvey company in Victoria.

Ken was one of the armoured Roman gladiators who marched majestically across the stage carrying shield and spears.

LEAVE WELL ENOUGH ALONE

Cougars Given Reprieve In Unhunted Territory

By DON INGHAM

Government policy is to eliminate cougars from areas that are intensively hunted, and to leave them alone elsewhere unless life or property is endangered. Game Inspector G. C. Stevenson said in an interview today.

"Where they are seen close to human habitation we have to kill them, but I honestly believe they are not dangerous," he said.

In every case where cougars have threatened or attacked humans there has been a dog involved, he said, since a cougar looks upon a dog as a tasty morsel.

"They are also intensely curious," he said. Hunters have now learned to track cougar with either one dog alone or a pack, but never with two dogs.

"A single dog is afraid of a cougar and will keep out of danger," Inspector Stevenson said, "and in a pack they divert their prey. But two dogs are not enough. They have a little 'dutch courage' but not enough power."

"We don't say the cougar is not dangerous, but there is no reason to panic if they are about. As many people have been injured by black bears as by cougars, and yellowjackets are the worst danger of all."

The department has a new policy now of awarding the title of "bonus hunter" to hunters who have five kills to their credit. With the title goes a double bounty for each animal shot.

The Winnipeg Ballet may be held over an extra night here at the end of the month. Victoria Kiwanis Club committee members are negotiating with the company now to add an extra night to the scheduled two-night (May 28-29) performances already booked for the Royal Theatre.

Kiwanian M. V. Chesnut said today the club is "hopeful" that an extra performance may be added May 30. He said tickets were sold out last Monday but "so much pressure has been put on the club by those who were unable to secure them" that committee members are doing their utmost to get the added booking.

Mr. Chesnut said confirmation may be known Saturday.

Empress Hotel Employees Apply for Strike Vote

Empress Hotel employees have applied to the Labor Relations Board for a government-supervised strike vote.

At a meeting Thursday night the employees overwhelmingly rejected a conciliation board majority recommendation to pay a 5 per cent wage increase. Employees had asked for an across-the-board raise of 20 cents per hour, or about 10 per cent.

Employees also asked a five-day, 40-hour week, and were offered either a five and one-half day week or alternating five and six-day weeks, to be decided by both parties.

The board recommended no cost-of-living bonus payment or shift differential, and made no mention of employees' requests for statutory-holiday pay and vacation allowances.

Members of the board were Col. R. B. Longbridge, chairman; J. D. B. Campbell, for employer, and N. L. Maynard, employees' representative.

About 350 employees are affected by the negotiations, including all section of the hotel staff.

In the case of maintenance men a special list of wages was recommended by the board instead of a blanket increase recommended for other employees.

A judgment for $569 plus costs was given today against Gordon B. Shaw by County Court Judge H. H. Shandley on a claim brought by Kenneth L. Wright, of Ferriday's U-Drive.

Mr. Wright testified Shaw still owed him $569 on a promissory note issued in June, 1950.

The suit was undefended. Shaw, the court was informed, is believed to be serving with the air force in eastern Canada.

John Barnes, of Vancouver, will speak on "Ancient Wisdom Applied to the Present" at a public meeting of the Victoria Theosophical Society Sunday evening at 8 at 904 Government Street.

He had the stage sophistication of Menjou, the confidence and dramatic ability of Barrymore, the pantomimic skill of Chaplin and a talent for comedy that you don't have to compare with any other stage star's. It's his own. Other famous comedians will probably be copying it rather than comparing it.

They had microphones on the stage. He didn't need them. He didn't muffle a line or a joke all the way through. One of the comedy songs and dances he did with his partner got four encores.

There must have been 30,000 memorized words in his part. He put them all over as if everything he did was extemporaneous.

The guy was a natural. His reported chums expected him to be good but not that good.

They didn't exactly go there with the intentions of giving him the raspberry—although they would have been happy to do so if he had merited it.

Instead they gasped with amazement and rolled in their seats at his jokes and antics.

As soon as he sang his first song they realized what a born thespian he is. "Old Man River" is as deep as the Atlantic in his natural singing voice for office parties.

For the benefit of the orchestra and chorus he pitched his voice to sea level for the "Red Mill" numbers.

What a range he must have! Then there was the news editor, the burghmaster. He was tops in his part, too, but that was to be expected; portly, impressive, dignified-looking chap, for years a musician, singer and amateur actor with

Dog Raids Ruining B.C. Sheep Raisers

Losses Driving Wool Farmers Out of Business, Officials Say

Marauding dogs are threatening to destroy British Columbia's sheep-raising industry, it was learned today from the Department of Agriculture.

W. R. Gunn, livestock commissioner, said sheep-raising on the Island and elsewhere in B.C. is rapidly declining, chiefly due to widespread killings by dogs.

Killer dogs in a raid sometimes took a toll of more than 60 sheep, leaving many to die a slow death from wounds in the scrub-brush of the hills, he said.

Dr. Gunn said many first class sheep-raising localities, like Salt Spring Island, were being ruined by dogs.

"Sheep raising was one of Salt Spring Island's major industries," said the commissioner. "In the last few years the industry has been nearly destroyed by dogs."

Here on the Island, Dr. Gunn said the damage done by dogs has been so great that several farmers are planning to give up the business.

"The trouble is that some people own two or three dogs and leave them out at night," he said. "They don't seem to care what they do."

Dr. Gunn said the taxpayer was paying out money in compensation for the damage done by dogs.

"But that is nothing when you consider an industry is being slowly destroyed," he said. Sheep losses due to dogs is confirmed by several sheep raisers on South Vancouver Island who complain that dogs are running them out of business.

One farmer, W. H. Lock, said he had lost 34 sheep due to dogs. M. M. Towers, one of the few remaining big sheep raisers in Saanich, said he was planning to go out of business because his losses due to dogs are so heavy each year.

Some sheep raisers have brought shepherds over from Scotland to do the work, they disclosed.

The decline of the sheep industry in British Columbia is regarded with some concern by the Department of Agriculture. It is estimated that to meet Canada's annual needs wool from over 12,000,000 sheep would be required. At present the flocks total is only about 2,000,000.

Some sheep raisers have brought shepherds over from Scotland to do the work, they disclosed.

The decline of the sheep industry in British Columbia is regarded with some concern by the Department of Agriculture. It is estimated that to meet Canada's annual needs wool from over 12,000,000 sheep would be required. At present the flocks total is only about 2,000,000.

SOCRED CHIEF BRANDS STORY CONCOCTED LIE

Resigning Officials Won't Give Reasons

Newspaper reports that three officials of the Victoria Social Credit Association resigned over the choice of election candidates were termed "damnable manufactured lies" today by E. O. Duke, who has submitted his resignation as president.

The ailing, 74-year-old former Alberta M.L.A. angrily replied: "I will give my reasons for resigning at the proper time and place. It will be after the election. But I will say my resignation has nothing to do with the choice of candidates. I am satisfied with the candidates and am working for them."

"The newspaper story is concocted and rotten. If I were a younger man, I'd go down to that newspaper office and tell them a thing or two—in fact, I might do more than tell them."

Mr. Duke has submitted his resignation along with William L. Fahey, first vice-president, and R. Barclay Shaw, second vice-president. They contend their resignations have nothing to do with the choice of candidates, and they will give their reasons after the election. All will remain members of the association.

Referring to a report that the officials resigned because they didn't get the nominations, Mr. Duke said:

"Why, that's ridiculous. I got up and told the nominating convention to vote against me because I am too old."

Mr. Fahey was unavailable for comment.

Mr. Shaw said his resignation had nothing to do with the selection of candidates. He will give his reasons later, he said.

A general meeting of the association is not scheduled until after the election. The resignations will be dealt with then.

Meanwhile, the newer element in the Social Credit party here is not worried about the resignations.

Ron Worley, chairman of the Vancouver Island area council, said the resignations are unfortunate "but no harm has been done."

Candidate Don Smith said he is "not unduly alarmed."

Mr. Shaw said his resignation had nothing to do with the selection of candidates. He will give his reasons later, he said.

Variety of Suggestions
To Be Found in Column

By PENNY SAVER

"Hello Penny, I've got a problem," said a voice over the phone. That's what I like to hear. It's far more fun to be able to find something in town for a busy housewife than to be telling her about things she isn't in desperate need of having in her home.

The housewife's problem was where to find some kind of novel blinds that would be in-keeping with a sun room yet keep the sun out.

What an order! I hopped to town and here's what I suggested for the caller. Bamboo blinds! Just the other day I said that you would be amazed at all the uses for bamboo and here it is again. My suggestion wasn't going to shatter her budget, either. The bamboo blinds sell at $1.79 for three-foot widths up to $6.00 for a 10-foot width. All the blinds have the standard six-foot drop.

Now that we are wearing blouses without sweaters and jackets we like to have something to dress them up a bit.

How do you like this idea? Pure silk brocaded Ascot Ties! They're lovely and priced at $2.95. Tied at the neck of dresses, sweaters, suits and coats they look extremely smart.

Glass fruit, straight from Peking, will be the rave of the family and your visitors when you arrange them in a bowl on your summer table.

The fruit is made of glass and then misted with a coating to make them look realistic. You can buy bunches at 39 cents each and in this selection is almost every type of fruit you could wish for... not to eat mind you.

Yesterday I suggested that you do your own embroidery. That is fine for people who have the time, but if you're not one of them and you still would like to have hand-embroidered pieces around your home you should take a look at the grass linen sets all delicately patterned by hand.

A dresser set is $1.49 and guest towels are 95 pennies. This work in grass linen also includes table clothes and napkins.

Ever popular mother of pearl is not as expensive as you might think.

Pickled forks and novelty forks of all kinds including a letter opener in the luxurious mother of pearl are priced from 39 pennies to $1.35.

TODAY'S RECIPE

DATE WHIP

Half pound dates, 5 egg whites, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. lemon juice, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tsp. grated lemon rind.

Soak dates for two hours in water to cover. Stew until soft. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Pit dates and press through a coarse sieve. Add lemon juice, sugar and grated rind. Fold into egg whites. Pour into a baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water and bake at 275 degrees for an hour.

Did you ever add chopped dates to fluffy tapioca? A little grated orange or lemon peel peps it up into the gourmet class. When chopping dates remember to dip the knife of scissors into cold water occasionally.

Intricate Designs—The demands of 1952 dress styles have turned public favor from round brilliant-cut diamonds to baguette, pear-shaped and marquise-cut styles, jewelry designers state. The reason for the change, they say, is the dramatic importance the new favorites add to designs in the white precious metals palladium and platinum.

Half-Size Fashion

Two-piece in half-sizes! Here it is, your good go-everywhere summer dress! That narrow scalloped neckline is new, very face-flattering, too. This is the size range designed for the fuller, shorter figure. No alteration worries! Look taller and slimmer!

Pattern 4592: Half-sizes 14 1/2, 16 1/2, 18 1/2, 20 1/2, 22 1/2, 24 1/2. Size 16 1/2 takes 4 1/2 yards 39-inch.

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions. Send 35 cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send order to Anne Adams, the Times, Pattern Dept., 60 Front St. W., Toronto 1-A, Ont.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Girl With Large Bust
May Be Self-Conscious

Q. "I am a girl of 13 and I have an extremely large bust. Is there anything I can do?"

A. The chances are that you do not really have a bust which is too large but are just self-conscious about curves which are so new. Young women often feel this way. There is one thing you must not do and that is wear bras which flatten you and do not support.

I have been writing this column long enough to have had the experience of having girls write me at your age about this same problem and then write me a few years later asking how to firm and develop the bust because they broke down the ties when they were younger by wearing a flattening brassiere.

I have found that the following exercise has helped pupils in my class. Stand tall. Make large circles with the arms, pulling back hard as the arms move sideways and downward to place.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet, 5 1/2 inches tall and weigh 128 pounds. My bust measures 32 inches; waist, 25 1/2 inches; and hips, 38 inches. I know that my weight and measurements are wrong. I am big boned."

A. You are not overweight but you are out of proportion. Do bust developing and waist and hip reducing exercises. Concentrate on the hip exercises. You can redistribute your weight with the correct exercises. If want them send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me with your request for leaflets No. 7, "Bust Developing," No. 3, "Hip Exercises," and No. 6, "Don't Go To Waist."

To Waist," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper. I haven't enough space to outline them in the Question Box.

Q. "I am a tall girl of 18, and weigh 145 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches; waist, 27 inches; and hips, 41 inches. Could you possibly tell me what my measurements should be?"

A. I do not know how tall you are but judging from your bust and waist I would guess that you are overweight. Your hips are out of proportion. Concentrate on exercises for this spot.

Q. "My legs are much heavier than they should be, especially my knees and thighs. Are there any exercises which would help?"

A. Here is an exercise for reducing the fat on the knees. Lie on your stomach. Rest your elbows on the floor. Bend your left knee, trying to spank your self with your left foot. Straighten left knee and bend right. This is done rapidly, pulling back as far as possible.

Here is the nine-day diet menu for tomorrow:

FIFTH DAY
BREAKFAST—One-half grapefruit, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON—One medium hamburger, sliced tomatoes, one glass of skimmed milk.

DINNER—Good helping liver, stewed tomatoes, 10 stalks of asparagus, one slice of pineapple or one-half grapefruit or apple.

If you did not get started at the beginning of the nine-day diet, you may obtain the entire set of menus and a height and weight chart in a handy pocket booklet by sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "You feed family well while sticking to diet."

Would you like to know an easy way to decorate your meat pie? Cut biscuit dough with a doughnut cutter, being sure to remove the "holes." Place on top of meat pie and bake. To serve, fill the centres of the biscuits with whole kernel corn, small diced carrots or green peas.

Keep whipping cream cold, cold, cold! It soups quickly in the heat. It whips up well when it is cold.

On French Embassy Staff

As head of the English section, French information service at the French Embassy in Ottawa, Miss Gladys Arnold has assisted many young Canadians.

Students going to France for study or a summer's vacation contact her for information regarding reasonable accommodation and places to eat; what to pay the taxi drivers, how much to tip.

"It's the under $100 crowd I like to help best," she will tell you, "and it is this crowd I have the most contact with. For they need correct information if they are going to make ends meet while they are studying abroad."

Members of the press and radio also contact Miss Arnold. "Perhaps a member of the press or radio is crossing to France to get some particular story or to interview some person or persons," she explains.

"Then it's up to me to pave the way. Open the right doors, so to speak. Give letters of introduction to the people in France who will be able to help; suggest a plan for the itinerary and the best way to go after the story or the interview."

In between assisting students and newspaper people, Miss Arnold meets many people who just "drop in" to the embassy to have some special question or questions answered. She also acts as liaison between the French embassy and Canadian newspapers, sending out stories and information regarding France and the French people that will be of interest to Canadians.

Miss Arnold has been holidaying in Victoria for the past two weeks, visiting her mother, Mrs. F. M. Sutcliffe, Truett Street. She is going to Vancouver this week-end but will return to Victoria again next week during the visit of the ambassador of France, His Excellency Hubert Guerin.

Haley will preside at the tea table and that Mr. James Grant, Mr. J. Longpre, Mrs. T. White and Mrs. A. Sztradowski will act as serviteurs. Decorations are being arranged by Dorothy Chan. Assisting with arrangements are Phyllis Leong, Lillian and Vivian Mar.

To Aid Fund

To aid the Save the Children Fund, the Children's Garden Library will again present "Whatsoever Things Are Beautiful" program entitled "Think of These Things," in the garden at 1210 Tattersall Drive, May 23 at 3 p.m.

This annual event is valuable in the teaching and expression of true Canadian citizenship.

The program this year will present the school's band under direction of Rowland Graft; Margaret Jenkins choir under direction of W. H. Murray; fairy dances by pupils of Wynne Shaw's school of dancing and a solo by John Dunbar.

A voluntary gate offering will be taken for the fund to be added to $1,364 realized at former programs.

The affair will be under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia and Mrs. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pendray, Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Miss Kathleen Agnew.

Mrs. F. Paulding, convener of the tea which realized approximately $100, received guests with Mrs. C. C. Annett, president.

Presiding at the lace-covered tea table centred with a flat bowl of pink, white and yellow tulips with mauve stocks and lighted ivory candles in silver branch candelabra, were Mrs. C. N. Chubb, Mrs. A. B. McFarlane, Mrs. T. Denny and Miss Kathleen Agnew.

During the afternoon Miss Donna McCabe, vocalist, and Miss Marion Gibbs, pianist, entertained. The program was arranged by Mrs. R. D. McCaw.

Mrs. F. T. Fairley was in charge of tea arrangements, assisted by Mesdames W. Walker, M. Dun-and R. Parfitt, door receipts; and Mrs. M. Hemingsen, guest book.

SURF GETS WASHES TWICE AS SWEET

Even when dried indoors

You can tell by the smell if your wash is really clean. Ordinary suds leave traces of SOAP SCUM, smelly grease and dirt deep in the fibers. Clothes CAN'T SMELL SWEET because they aren't really clean! Try Surf next washday—see why so many women are switching to Surf!

Surf Suds
Surf gets out every trace of smelly grease and dirt. Surf leaves NO "DIRTY CLOTHES" ODOR. Even when dried indoors—Surf-washed clothes smell TWICE AS SWEET because they are deep-clean, through and through clean. Get Surf today—you'll like it!

A Spanish police officer's estimate of the damage sustained by a car in a collision was inaccurate by $400, said an accused motorist in Spanish police court Thursday.

Constable Bob Coleman told the court that a car driven by George D. Fox, San Sebastian Auto Court, had about $600 damage to it in a recent accident.

Fox, 36, was convicted and fined $40 on a careless driving charge, told Magistrate H. C. Hall. He had the car examined by a local garage and "the damage was $200, not $600."

Student Riots Disrupt 3 More U.S. Colleges

NEW YORK, May 16 (CP).—Spring-fever student rioting, rapidly spreading in popularity throughout United States universities, was reported at three more schools Thursday night and early today.

Latest outbreaks were at New York's Columbia University, Florida's University of Miami and Harvard.

At the same time, steps were taken at Indiana University to remove one of the causes of the riots—the demand for co-ed undergarments by male students. Mrs. Alice Nelson, director of women's residence halls, announced that a barrel full of discarded undergarments will be given away on the campus today, free to all takers.

Several hundred males were stopped Monday night by Col. Robert Shoemaker, dean of students, in a lingerie raid on the women's dormitory.

At Columbia University, police and special guards battled more than 1,000 students early today as they tried to invade two co-ed dormitories of Barnard College, adjoining the men's campus.

About 300 co-eds in the dorms, Brooks Hall and Hewitt Hall, waved undergarments from their windows and tossed water at surging male undergraduates. Male student "pantie raids" have been staged recently at a number of other schools, including the Universities of Florida, Nebraska, Iowa, Denver and Otterbein College in Ohio.

At Yale University on Tuesday, some 1,500 students demonstrated over an argument involving rival ice cream vendors.

Thursday night, Harvard University students, not to be outdone by Yale, staged a riot of their own, although for a different reason.

Police said the melee began when about 1,000 students gathered to launch a country-wide campaign to put a comic-strip character in the White House.

It was a boisterous but peaceful rally until another group appeared, offering a rival comic-strip character for president.

The opposing candidates were Pogo and Pappy Yokum, and the ensuing fight resulted in arrests.

of 28 students, charged with disturbing the peace.

About 3,000 University of Miami students raided the Dickinson dormitories on the main campus early today.

Police and firemen used fire hoses and even sent for tear gas to quell the shouting, boisterous students.

University co-eds clustered on the balconies of their dormitory at the height of the disorder. Some called out invitations to the male students to invade the girls' living quarters and beckoned the more daring into fence-scaling forays over a six-foot barricade.

Dam Demolished

QUEBEC, May 16 (CP).—The swollen Peribonka River was reported today to have carried away a temporary dam, erected about the site of a dam under construction at Chute-au-Diable with loss estimated at $1,000,000.

Power and People

Canada's Role in Future Conservationist's Subject

Address delivered this afternoon at the annual congregation of the University of British Columbia by Roderick Haig-Brown, stipendiary magistrate at Campbell River, B.C., and outstanding Canadian conservationist and author.

It is often said that Canadians are provincially minded. And of all Canadians we people of the Pacific slope, shut between the Rockies and the ocean, are supposed to be the most provincial. I should like, for the moment, to confirm and emphasize this opinion by saying that I have always felt an intensely provincial pride in British Columbia's University. Until today it has been the pride of a loyal fan, a devout follower of the team's fortunes, who could never expect to play a more active part. Today I suddenly find myself assigned to coach at first base. I can assure you that my provincial pride is stretched beyond all reasonable bounds.

A sense of local pride is a pleasant and natural thing. One should not deny it or slight it. But at the same time, it is true that few things are less local than a good university. A university's very function is to bring together, from the ends of the earth if need be, the best in thought and knowledge and understanding; to foster and multiply this wealth; and to spread it abroad again in the lives of its graduates. A great university is not merely the affair of a province or a nation; it is an asset to mankind and a bold expression of humanity. The true test of your university's success is not in whether it has made you good British Columbians, or even good Canadians, but in whether you are people who will be good for the world. I think three things of you: you are young, you are Canadian and you are, or you should be, the best that western civilization can produce. I wonder three things about you: what will you do for yourselves? What will you do to Canada? What will you do for the world?

Worth of Individual Stressed

These things are by no means independent of each other. The only truly important unit of civilization is the individual human being; and the only valid purpose any social organization can possibly have is to promote the fullest flowering of every individual it serves. The mechanics of happiness and fulfillment are all yours. You go from here as citizens of the strongest and most advanced young country in the world, in what are undoubtedly the early years of her richest growth. You are inheriting a fabulously high living standard and a measure of social, economic and political security known scarcely anywhere else in the world. You have been taught how to take a part in this wonderful civilization, how to serve it, perhaps even how to add to its comforts and complexities.

If this were all, or even if it were a true statement in itself, I should feel very sorry for you. Fortunately, it is neither true, nor complete. There is, for instance, the additional fact that you are men and women; and this alone is enough to ensure that you will know the many discontents, divine and otherwise, without which happiness can have no meaning. And it is true that there is no such thing as security, whether social, economic or political. These things are ideas, not static conditions and they exist, if at all, only through constant renewal and growth and change—through the active thought of many people, caring very much. You have been trained, in your school and university years, and especially in your university years, to this kind of thought. You have had opened to you the way into the great thinking of the past. You have learned that you must reach deeply into yourselves, and beyond yourselves, for any real fulfillment. But in spite of all that and in spite of the protective freedoms that surround your thought, you will not find this an easy time to think freely, as men and women should and must if they are to remain free. You will find that every complexity of the civilization which produces so much material wealth is a limit on your life and on your power of thought. You will find that you are a more specialized individual, in a more specialized job, than your father was. You will find far more efficient means of standardizing your thought brought to bear upon you than ever were upon him. You will find governments far more cynically and securely entrenched than he ever found them.

Nation's Growth Will Continue

Yet I think you are equipped to deal with this kind of world and make it behave as you want it to behave. I believe you can control it and broaden it and purify it, and raise children in it to be even stronger and freer than you are yourselves. If so, you will know great happiness and the rich fulfillment of all your preparation. One thing that will face you all your lives and test your integrity and stretch your intelligence, is the speed of Canada's growth. There may be lapses and slackenings in it, but it will last out your time; Canada will still be growing, and growing fast, when you die. The question is: What will you make of it? Can you control it, keep it honorable, make it solid and lasting? Or will you use it and let it use you without any serious thought of its meaning? You can do that, of course; you are equipped, most of you, to go out and make a quick clean-up, buy a couple of Cadillacs and die with all the lights burning in a big house in the best residential district. The next day they will weep over your grave, and bury more than your share of Canada with you.

I think that is a dead fashion and few of you will be tempted by it. I am sure you know that you do not own Canada, that you only have a lease on her. But it is not enough simply to know this; you have to live the knowledge and act on it constantly in everything you do. You have to be convinced that you want your children and their children to grow up into the same rich future that you have. You will find much against you in this. No government will ever help you, unless you force it to—for governments are affairs of a day and the future is forever. Many of your fellow citizens will be against you, because they have not had your opportunities to understand. But you will be able to do much, some of it in your jobs, even more on your own, by thinking clearly and understanding what is going on about you. It is a duty as important as any that can own country within the limits of its resources, so that we shall never be forced to reach beyond its borders for the means of power. Surely we can learn to trade honestly and fairly without artificial restrictions, so that the peoples of other nations besides our own may have a chance to live fully and well. Surely we can learn to broaden our sympathy and understanding until they include other ways besides our own. Surely we can teach ourselves to use power, not merely for ourselves, not in bitter competition with others, but for human welfare.

Because I believe that some such achievement as this is in Canada's future, I am convinced it is important as never before to maintain our own identity, to maintain and build on our own special ways of thought, our own integrity, our own faiths. No achievement or service of this sort will come as a matter of plan or deliberate policy; it can only grow from an attitude of mind, a new way of thinking about old things, a new way of living among new and formidable things.

You are people learned in philosophy and the humanities, learned in law, learned in the sciences. You are also men and women, trained to think clearly and honestly. Canada is you and you are Canada; you cannot separate yourselves from her destiny, no matter if you would, and I am sure you would not. She is what you make her—not you collectively, working at your future jobs, but you individually, as men and women, raising children, feeling, thinking, trying to understand. You have the guidance of a dozen great civilizations behind you, and the vigor of a new nation and a new continent in your blood. You will influence the future of Canada, and probably that of many people beyond her borders. The value of your influence will depend on three things: The integrity of your own lives, the honesty of your private thinking, and the spiritual depth of your sympathy for mankind.

Wurtele Backs Esquimalt Public Works Borrowing

Esquimalt plans to borrow $300,000 this year, with the consent of the ratepayers, for essential public works.

"This borrowing, in itself, will not cause any increase in the mill rate," Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today.

Even that, reassurance is not the end of Reeve Wurtele's argument. For instance, the approximately $9,000 a year average of interest charges on the $300,000 5-per-cent 15-year loan compares very favorably with the $13,500 the municipality would spend on maintenance charges if the works program is not undertaken, Reeve Wurtele said.

Next Wednesday, at the Esquimalt High School Auditorium, Reeve Wurtele and members of the council will explain the $300,000 loan and the effectiveness of its proceeds.

They will explain also how:

1. Tillicum Road will be paved and put into first-class condition by virtue of an agreement with the provincial government, on a 50-50 cost basis, according to the works plan, and how.
2. A drainage scheme will be undertaken, covering various areas, including part of Colville Road, Old Esquimalt Road, Fraser, and Lampson Streets.

Secondary roads will require an expenditure from current revenue of $35,000.

This secondary roads program will include paving, without a curb, on such streets as: Grafton, Foster, Sturdee, Nelson, Constance, Comford, Carleton Place, Effingham, June, Kinver, Joffre, Wollaston, Head, Brydon Court, Alderbury, Carrie, Nicholson, Agnes and Parklands.

Coating will be done on: Heald, Greenwood, Hadfield, Shirley and Forshaw, amongst others.

The Esquimalt ratepayers' Association has collaborated in the renting of the high school auditorium.

Ranking U.S. Pilot Shot Down in Korea

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea, May 16 (AP).—The air force announced today that Col. Walker M. Mahurin, one of the leading United States fighter pilots, was shot down over Korea Tuesday.

The 33-year-old Sabre jet pilot who shot down more than 25 planes in two wars hasn't been heard from since he radioed: "I've been hit by flak and I think I'm on fire."

The air force said it didn't know whether he parachuted. Mahurin, from Fort Wayne, Ind., was pioneering the use of Sabre-jet fighters in dive-bombing.

Mahurin shot down 21 planes in Europe and one in the Pacific in the Second World War. He was credited with 3½ planes shot down in Korea, one probably destroyed and one damaged.

U.B.C. Players Club Tours Island

The University of British Columbia Players' Club completes its road tour in Port Alberni and Nanaimo Friday and Saturday, respectively.

Just finished a successful interior trip, the 25 students will present "Much Ado About Nothing" in the Port Alberni High School and Nanaimo's John Shaw High School.

The students, who are directed by Joy Coghill, made their own costumes for the play, which had its first showing in Vancouver.

Fur trappers established a fort at Astoria, Ore., in the early 1880s, making it the first white settlement in the Pacific Northwest.

POTATO SMUGGLERS THREATEN $2,000,000 TRADE

"Hello, Dear! ... It's Been a Long Time ..."

Probably the happiest man in Canada Thursday was Brig. John M. Rockingham, Victoria, when he met his wife at Vancouver airport on his return to Canada after 13-month command of 25th

Canadian Brigade in Korea. Brig. Rockingham has been appointed director-general of military training of the Canadian Army. After leave he will take over that post in Ottawa.

Civic Reception Planned Here For Brigadier John Rockingham

By ROY THORSEN
A civic reception is in store for Brigadier John M. "Rocky" Rockingham when he arrives in Victoria on leave, probably at the end of this month.

"We will either have a dinner or a cocktail party in his honor," said Mayor Claude Harrison.

"He is a very distinguished soldier, rating high in Canada's armed forces. Victoria is proud of Rocky—we all are. He's done a grand job in Korea. He's a good leader who inspires men," the mayor said.

Questioned by telephone today, Brig. Rockingham said that he was not sure of his commitments until he has returned to Ottawa.

He is leaving for the national capital Saturday.

"However, I'll certainly be over to see you folks in Victoria during my leave," the brigadier said.

Brig. Rockingham, a two-war veteran, looked rather worn and tired as he met newsmen Thursday afternoon in Vancouver.

"It sure feels fine to get your feet back on Canadian soil," said the former commander of Canada's 25th special fighting force in the Far East. He commanded the Korean brigade for more than a year and is now director-general of military training at Ottawa. His successor is Brig. Pat Bogert.

CANADIANS BEST
"Which are the best fighting troops in the United Nations set-up?" was one of the questions flung at the brigadier as he arrived.

"Why the Canadians ... and all you have to do is look up their record to get proof of that," said Brig. Rockingham with a confident smile.

The reception committee at the Sea Island Airport included Maj. Gen. Chris Vokes, G.O.C. Western Army Command; Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver; Brig. Rockingham's wife and two children, Audrey, 16, and John, 11.

Brig. Rockingham was of the opinion that the Korean war "will continue for a long time yet."

He would emphasize night fighting and shooting in his new role as the army training manager, he said.

"Rocky" will not be in Vancouver for the arrival of the repatriated 1,100 Korean fighters he commanded at 10 a.m. Sunday. "I'm sorry I can't be here when they come," he said.

The brigadier said that the Korean fighters will "always have at least 20 per cent of experienced men in the line no matter what changes take place in units."

B.C., Alberta Flights Resume

Announcement Follows End of Oil Strike in U.S.; Gas Available

Trans-Canada Air Lines announced today that all flights within B.C. and Alberta that were cut off by the government's order to curtail aviation fuel consumption have been restored. Announcement followed the end of the oil strike in the United States.

Canadian Pacific Air Lines also will resume full B.C. schedules today, and the Vancouver-Calgary trip will be made because fueling can be done in this province.

Officials explained that 91-octane gasoline, used generally by aircraft operating within the province, is now readily available. Larger aircraft require 100-octane fuel, which is still in short supply.

All restrictions on use of aviation gasoline in Alberta, Yukon and Northwest Territories are being lifted immediately but in British Columbia restrictions are being removed from grades 91 to 98, which can be used in lighter aircraft, such as helicopters and bush planes but not in heavier aircraft. T. N. Beauregard, assistant deputy minister of defense production said in Ottawa today.

All restrictions are being lifted in Alberta, Yukon and the Northwest Territories because of the existence of a small plant in Calgary which can feed all the needs of that area.

"As for the other parts of Canada, we will lift restrictions just as soon as it appears possible through increased U.S. production," Beauregard said.

Meanwhile, in Washington it was reported the oil strike had started to cool off today.

Government officials had set up 15 bargaining sessions between union and oil company negotiators across the United States.

O. A. Knight, leader of a coalition of unions on strike for 16 days, said in an interview that "we have called off the strike" and most strikers would be back on the job soon.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Prices
Slow trading at Vancouver Exchange in the late session today produced few changes in prices.

The session finished with narrow advances scored in early trading mostly cancelled out as the market took a backward tilt again.

BULLETINS

Conciliation

VANCOUVER, May 16 (CP)—The wage dispute in British Columbia's lumbering industry will be put before a conciliation board.

Decision to apply for a board was made today when representatives of the International Woodworkers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and Forest Industrial Relations, representing the operators, failed to reach an agreement.

Lucky Driver

Escapes in Bridge Plunge

VANCOUVER, May 16 (CP)—A driver escaped with only a minor head cut early today when his car plunged over the Second Narrows bridge to the rocks 50 feet below.

In a second accident Thursday two small children were dragged 14 feet under a backing car and one of them is in serious condition in hospital.

Mike Kostyniuk, 36, climbed out of his battered auto beneath the south girders of Second Narrows bridge and told astounded police officers he would not bother going to hospital.

He said he swerved to avoid an approaching auto and the next thing he knew, he was plunging down the embankment. Even his car got off lightly. Damage was estimated at only $200.

A five-year-old boy, John Haggstrom, suffered internal injuries and fractured right leg when he was dragged beneath a car driven by Roy Stevens, 62. John's playmate, Curtis Hughes, 5, dragged the same distance, escaped with head cuts. Police were told the tots were playing in a water hole in a vacant lot adjoining Stevens' home. He did not see them and backed over the hole and onto the centre of the lane without being alerted by their screams.

Gambler Killed

MONTREAL, May 16 (BUP)—A Montreal gambler has been killed in an automobile accident near Chatham, Ontario.

The victim, Rene Dubois, testified at Montreal's vice probe last year that he operated several bookie establishments. He narrowly escaped death last January when he was shot in the back as he climbed into his car. Dubois refused to identify his assailant at the time.
